Summary of HR Polyols Output and Sales over the Last Decade (2)

2017-12-01

PUdaily, Shanghai-- Our previous article shows the output and growth in output of HR polyols, as well as that of automobiles in the last decade. According to the similarity in the output changes of HR polyols and automobiles, we managed to estimate the relationship between per unit of HR polyols and car output. This article continues to analyze the growth in imports, exports and consumption of HR polyols over the past decade. In the past decade, both exports and imports of HR polyols have largely remained below 50,000 tons per year. The trend of imports is similar to that of exports, both being downward and then upward. The gap between the imports and exports is no wider than 20,000 tons per year. As a result, the impact on consumption of domestic HR polyols is limited...More
