Things You Should Know about the 2017 Polyether Polyols Market!

2018-01-26

PUdaily, Shanghai-- In 2017, as several rounds of environmental inspection were carried out, the price for raw materials experienced ups and downs like a roller coaster, but the rhythm was not in step with that in 2016. This has made market participants confused. The year is already behind us. In 2017, how much polyether polyols were produced nationwide? How high was the operating rate? How much polyether polyols were consumed? And which type of the polyether polyols has a higher output? This article will provide answers to these questions. According to PUdaily, the production capacity for polyether polyols nationwide in 2017 was around 5.4 million tons (excluding the capacity eliminated by Sinopec Shanghai Gaoqiao Petrochemical)...More
