Polyether Polyols Market in Asia Pacific Maintains Weak Recently

2018-03-29

PUdaily, Shanghai-- The recent price for polyether polyols in China saw continuing fall. The price of raw material PO continues to be low, meanwhile the increase in demands from downstream polyether polyols plants is smaller than expected. With limited confirmed-orders enquiries and new orders for polyether polyols, the polyether polyols manufacturers are overstocked. They are under great pressure to sell goods in the short term. Faced with excess supply and sluggish demand, domestic polyether polyols manufacturers are forced to lower their prices. Under this circumstance, how is the polyether polyols market in Asia Pacific? Is the price also on a downward trajectory? Today, PUdaily will talk about that. In March, the domestic price of polyether polyols goes down gradually....More
