Where is the Next Resistance Level as TDI Price Continues to Rise?

2018-05-17

PUdaily, Shanghai-- "dramatic price rise" will surely lead to "retaliatory decline", while excessive decline usually entails a subsequent sharp rally. This seems to be an "iron law" in the market. In 2018, domestic TDI market experiences ups and downs, with the price fluctuating considerably. PUdaily finds after observation that in January, the overall supply was tight due to the failure of facilities of two manufacturers in Shanghai. Whereas downstream TDI demands were strong, whether at home and abroad. The overdemand provided support for the TDI price, enabling it to stand at around RMB 40,000/ton...More
