A Review of PU Index Movement in March and Forecast for April

2019-04-12

PUdaily, Shanghai-- In March, the overall PU raw materials market rose slowly after remaining stable for a period of time. Different raw materials showed varied patterns of price movement. In March, the traditional peak season for PU raw materials, downstream demand remained weak in the first ten days, and it began to slowly increase in the second ten days. The prices of some materials showed an upward trend due to inertia. In particular, the prices of PMDI and pure MDI increased significantly. However, prices for products such as PO and polyether polyols remained low. In March, the flexible foam index remained stable and then fluctuated while going up. This movement is caused by multiple factors. In the first 20 days of the month, the prices of PO, TDI and polyether polyols fluctuated in a narrow range, resulting in a largely...More
